Right to Revise

This Employee Handbook contains the employment policies and practices of Dino Drop-In in effect at the time of publication. All previously issued Employee Handbooks and any inconsistent policy statements or memoranda are superseded.

Dino Drop-In reserves the right to revise, modify, delete, or add to any and all policies, procedures, work rules, or benefits stated in this Employee Handbook or in any other document.

Any written changes to this Employee Handbook will be distributed to all employees so that the employees will be aware of the new policies or procedures. No oral statements or representations can in any way alter the provisions of this Employee Handbook.

This Employee Handbook sets forth the entire agreement between you and Dino Drop-In for the duration of employment and the circumstances under which employment may be terminated. Nothing in this Employee Handbook or in any other personnel document, including benefit plan descriptions, creates or is intended to create a promise or representation of continued employment for any employee.

Employment Eligibility/Immigration Reform and Control Act

The law requires employees to present documentation that establishes identity and employment eligibility. The Form I-9 was developed for verifying that persons are eligible to work in the United States. Dino Drop-In will furnish you with a copy of the Form I-9. Read it carefully and fully complete Section 1 of the form at the time of hire – when you begin to work. Dino Drop-In must review your document(s) and fully complete Section 2 of the form within 3 business days of your hire. If you are unable to present the required document(s) within 3 business days of the date employment begins, you must present a receipt for the application for the document(s) within 3 business days. You must present the actual document within 90 days of the date employment begins or your employment will be terminated.

Probationary Employment Period

When Dino Drop-In hires a new employee, the first one hundred eighty (180) days of employment is a period called Probationary Employment Period. During this time, you are able to learn about your job and your new surroundings.

During the first one hundred eighty (180) day period, your job performance, attendance, attitude and overall interest in your job will be observed by your supervisor. During this period, you may not be eligible for most benefits. Throughout the Probationary Employment Period, Dino Drop-In will be assessing your selection as an employee. Employees who fail to demonstrate the commitment, performance and attitude expected by Dino

Drop-In may be terminated at any time during the Probationary Employment Period. The Probationary Employment Period may be extended up to an additional six months.

As a result of any excused absence(s) during your Probationary Period, or for other reasons identified by management, Dino Drop-In may choose to extend your Probationary Period as necessary to give you a further opportunity to demonstrate your ability to do the job. If your Probationary Period is extended, you will be notified.

Equal Employment Opportunity (EEO)

Equal Employment Opportunity has been, and will continue to be, a fundamental principle at Dino Drop-In, where employment is based upon personal capabilities and qualifications without discrimination based on age, race, color, creed, national origin, ancestry, religion, (including religious dress and grooming practices), sex (including pregnancy, childbirth, breastfeeding, or related conditions), gender, gender identity, gender expression, sexual orientation, marital status, genetic information, disability (mental and physical, including HIV and AIDS), military and veteran status, denial of pregnancy disability leave or reasonable accommodation, or any other protected characteristic as established by law.

This policy of Equal Employment Opportunity applies to all policies and procedures relating to recruitment and hiring, compensation, benefits, termination and all other terms and conditions of employment.

Non-Discrimination in Employment

Dino Drop-In complies with federal and state laws regarding non-discrimination in employment. Applicants for employment are considered for employment and employees shall hold their employment without discrimination because of their age, race, color, creed, national origin, ancestry, religion, (including religious dress and grooming practices), sex (including pregnancy, childbirth, breastfeeding, or related conditions), gender, gender identity, gender expression, sexual orientation, marital status, genetic information, disability (mental and physical, including HIV and AIDS), military and veteran status, denial of pregnancy disability leave or reasonable accommodation, or any other protected characteristic as established by law, except when reasonable business demands so require and law requires such distinction. In no event shall the hiring of any employee be considered as creating a contractual agreement or specified time period of employment.

Dino Drop-In is committed to compliance with all applicable laws providing equal employment opportunities. This commitment applies to all persons involved in the operation of Dino Drop-In and prohibits unlawful discrimination by any employee of Dino Drop-In including supervisors and co-workers.

Harassment / Sexual Harassment

Dino Drop-In is committed to providing a work environment free of harassment. Committing of or involvement in any act of unlawful harassment of another individual will not be tolerated. All forms of harassment including any degrading work assignment(s), word(s), or action(s) toward an individual or an individual's age, race, color, creed, national origin, ancestry, religion, (including religious dress and grooming practices), sex (including pregnancy, childbirth, breastfeeding, or related conditions), gender, gender identity, gender expression, sexual orientation, marital status, genetic information, disability (mental and physical, including HIV and AIDS), military and veteran status, denial of pregnancy disability leave or reasonable accommodation, or any other protected characteristic as established by law.

It is specifically emphasized that sexual harassment in any form is expressly prohibited. Conduct of any kind that is perceived to be sexual harassment by a supervisor or employee will not be tolerated. Sexual harassment conduct includes, but is not limited to: explicitly or implicitly subjecting an employee to sexual advances as a condition of the employee's employment, evaluation, salary, advancement, assigned duties, shifts, or any other condition of employment; sexual flirtations, touching, advances, or proposition; the development of a perceived flirtatious personal relationship between two employees where one employee is in a position to assign or review the work of the other; verbal abuse of a sexual nature; graphic or suggestive comments about an individual's dress or body; sexually degrading words to describe an individual; the display in the work place of sexually suggestive objects or pictures, including nude photographs; and/or any unwelcome conduct which unreasonably interferes with the employee's job performance or creates a hostile or offensive work environment. Any employee who engages in the conduct of harassment will be subject to discipline and/or termination.

Prohibited unlawful harassment includes, but is not limited to, the following behavior:

- Verbal conduct such as epithets, derogatory jokes or comments, slurs or unwanted sexual advances, invitations or comments;
- Visual displays such as derogatory and/or sexually-oriented posters, photography, cartoons, drawings or gestures;
- Physical conduct including assault, unwanted touching, intentionally blocking normal movement or interfering with work because of sex, race or any other protected basis;
- Threats and demands to submit to sexual requests as a condition of continued employment, or to avoid some other loss, and offers of employment benefits in return for sexual favors; and
- Retaliation for reporting or threatening to report harassment.

Abusive Conduct/Bullying

Employers shall institute measures to prevent or stop abusive conduct/bullying in the workplace. These measures will include employer and employee training as required by law.

“Abusive conduct” or “bullying” means conduct of an employer or employee in the workplace, with malice, that a reasonable person would find hostile, offensive, and unrelated to an employer's legitimate business interests. Abusive conduct may include repeated infliction of verbal abuse, such as the use of derogatory remarks, insults, and epithets, verbal or physical conduct that a reasonable person would find threatening, intimidating, or humiliating, or the gratuitous sabotage or undermining of a person's work performance. A single act shall not constitute abusive conduct, unless especially severe and egregious.

Reporting an Act of Harassment

Dino Drop-In has a zero tolerance policy regarding any discriminatory, harassing, or retaliatory conduct in the workplace. Pursuant to that policy, we have subscribed to a telephone reporting/complaint service called the Harassment Hotline so that our employees can readily report such acts, including theft and safety matters without fear of retaliation, job loss, or embarrassment.

Sexual harassment, discrimination, retaliation and other inappropriate behavior cannot and will not be tolerated under any circumstances. The only way we can stop such behavior in the workplace is bring it out in the open by communication and total employee/employer commitment.

You are requested and strongly urged to report immediately to your supervisor any act of harassment. Supervisors are required to report all complaints of harassment to Dino Drop-In's management team. All complaints of harassment will be treated seriously and employee confidentiality will be respected. Employee confidentiality will be respected and maintained to the extent possible.

Dino Drop-In prohibits retaliation against any individual who reports discrimination or harassment or participates in an investigation of such reports. Retaliation against an individual for reporting harassment or discrimination or for participating in an investigation of a claim of harassment or discrimination is a serious violation of this policy and, like harassment or discrimination itself, will be subject to disciplinary action or termination of employment.

Remember that Dino Drop-In's management cannot correct any situation that is of concern to you unless it knows about it. In this regard, your cooperation is needed and appreciated.

You also should be aware that the Federal Equal Employment Opportunity Commission and various state agencies investigate and prosecute complaints of prohibited harassment in employment. If you think you have been harassed or that you have been retaliated against for resisting or complaining, you may file a complaint with the appropriate agency.

The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA)

The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) and the Americans with Disabilities Amendments Act (ADAAA) are federal laws that prohibit employers from discriminating against applicants and individuals with disabilities. These acts require employers to reasonably accommodate individuals with disabilities who are qualified for a job, with or without reasonable accommodations, so they may perform the essential job duties of the position. An individual who can be reasonably accommodated for a job, without undue hardship, will be given the same consideration for that position as any other applicant.

It is the policy of the company to comply with all Federal and state laws concerning the employment of persons with disabilities.

It is Dino Drop-In policy not to discriminate against qualified individuals with disabilities in regard to application procedures, hiring, advancement, discharge, compensation, training, or other terms, conditions and privileges of employment.

All employees are required to comply with safety standards. Applicants who pose a direct threat to the health or safety of other individuals in the workplace, which cannot be eliminated by reasonable accommodation, will not be hired. Current employees who pose a direct threat of safety of the other individuals in the workplace will be placed on appropriate leave until an organizational decision has been made in regard to the employee's immediate employment situation.

Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA)

The Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) provides eligible employees, who are employed in a business with 50 or more employees within a 75 mile radius, with up to 12 work weeks of unpaid leave for certain family and medical reasons during a 12-month period. An eligible employee may also qualify for FMLA military caregiver leave during a single 12-month period. FMLA leave already taken for other circumstances will be deducted from the military caregiver leave.

Dino Drop-In has chosen the 12-month period measured forward from the date an employee's first FMLA leave begins as the method for determining the period of FMLA protection. During this leave an eligible employee is entitled to continued group health plan coverage as if the employee had continued to work. At the conclusion of the leave, subject to some exceptions, an employee generally has a right to return to the same or to an equivalent position.

An employee should request FMLA leave by completing the Employee's Request for Leave form supplied by your supervisor or Dino Drop-In.

FMLA leave or return to work may be delayed or denied if the appropriate documentation is not provided in a timely manner. Also, a failure to provide requested documentation of the reason for an absence from work may lead to termination of employment.

Family leave is governed by Federal law and certain State laws and may require 30-day advance notice.

Please consult Dino Drop-In for a more detailed description of the FMLA and the acceptable qualifying events.

Hours of Work

The normal workday hours and work week may vary from employee to employee. Work periods may vary from assignment to assignment and may require overtime. Each non-exempt employee is required to know their work schedule and be in attendance as assigned. Exempt employees are expected to meet the requirements of their job, which may necessitate varied hours of work.

Work Schedules

Your supervisor will assign your individual work schedule. Failure to observe work schedules, including any assigned rest and lunch periods is not permitted. All employees are expected to be at their desks or workstations at the start of their scheduled shifts, ready to work. Employees are expected to work all of their scheduled hours, leaving work for any reason during normal working hours without permission may be considered job abandonment.

Exchanging work schedules with other employees is discouraged. However, if you need to exchange schedules, notify your supervisor, who may authorize an exchange if possible. Work-schedule exchanges will not be approved for the mere convenience of an employee or if the exchange interferes with normal operations or results in excessive overtime.

Tardiness

Reporting to work on time is required. "On-time" is defined as being properly dressed, being at your assigned work station and being prepared to begin work at the start of the scheduled work period. Anytime you are absent or late it impacts Dino Drop-In's operation and places an additional burden on your co-workers.

Employees are expected to report to work as scheduled, on time and prepared to start work. Attendance / Absenteeism

Regular attendance is required. If you are unable to report for work on any particular day, you must personally contact your supervisor two hours prior to your scheduled shift. In all cases of absences or tardiness, employees must provide their supervisor with an honest reason or explanation. Employees must also inform their supervisor of the expected duration of any late arrival and/or absence. Failure to notify a supervisor when unable to report to work may result in disciplinary action up to and including termination.

If you are going to be absent for more than one day and are not on an approved leave of absence, you are required to contact your immediate supervisor each day prior to the start of your shift to inform him/her of your status. Additionally, if you are absent due to illness your supervisor may request that you provide a physician's statement verifying your illness. Failure to provide a physician's certificate when requested or required to do so, excessive absenteeism (excused or not) and/or irregular attendance may be grounds for discipline up to and including termination of employment. Each situation of excessive absenteeism or tardiness shall be evaluated on a case-by-case basis. However, even one unexcused absence may be considered excessive, depending on the circumstance.

Excused absence of up to 10 days per year are encouraged to help make time for vacations, appointments, and other needed self care. Please use requests for time off when needed and arrange coverage of your schedule for minor needs when possible.

Your cooperation and assistance in performing such additional work is expected. Insubordination, including but not limited to failure or refusal to obey the orders or instructions of a supervisor or member of management or the use of abusive or threatening language toward a supervisor or member of management will not be tolerated.

Dino Drop-In reserves the right, at any time, with or without notice, to alter or change job responsibilities, reassign or transfer job positions, or assign additional job responsibilities.

Reductions in Force

If restructuring our operations or reducing the number of employees becomes necessary, Dino Drop-In will attempt to provide advance notice, if possible, to help prepare affected individuals. If possible, employees subject to layoff will be informed of the nature of the layoff and the foreseeable duration of the layoff, whether short-term or indefinite.

In determining which employees will be subject to layoff, Dino Drop-In will take into account, among other things, operation and requirements, the skill, productivity, ability, and past performance of those involved, and also, when feasible, the employee's length of service.

Employment of Relatives and Personal Relationships

Dino Drop-In wants to ensure that corporate practices do not create situations such as conflict of interest or favoritism. This extends to practices that involve employee hiring, promotions and transfers. Close relatives, partners, those in a dating relationship or members of the same household may not be permitted to be in positions that have a reporting responsibility to each other. Close relatives are defined as husband, wife, domestic partner, father, mother, father-in-law, mother-in law, grandfather, grandmother, son, son-in-law, daughter, daughter-in law, uncle, aunt, nephew, niece, brother, sister, brother-in-law, sister-in-law, step relatives, cousins and domestic partner relatives.

Employees who become immediate family members or establish a romantic relationship may continue employment as long as it does not have the potential for creating an adverse impact on work performance or create either an actual conflict of interest or the appearance of a conflict of interest.

If the potential for creating an adverse impact on work performance or creating either an actual conflict of interest or the appearance of a conflict of interest does occur, attempts will be made to find a suitable position within Dino Drop-In to which one of the employees will transfer. If employees become immediate family members or establish a romantic relationship, the Company will make reasonable efforts to assign job duties so as to minimize problems of supervision, safety, security or morale. If accommodations of this nature are not feasible, the employees will be permitted to determine which of them will resign. If the employees cannot make a decision, the Company will decide at its sole discretion which employee will remain in their current position.

Dino Drop-In reserves the right to apply this policy to situations where there is a conflict or the potential for conflict because of the relationship between employees, even if there is no direct-reporting relationship or authority involved.

Therefore, employees are encouraged to use the Internet appropriately. Unacceptable usage of the Internet can place Dino Drop-In and others at risk. This policy discusses acceptable usage of the Internet.

Guidelines

The following guidelines have been established for using the Internet and e-mail in an appropriate, ethical and professional manner.

1. Internet and e-mail access may not be used for transmitting, retrieving or storing of any communications of a defamatory, discriminatory or harassing nature or materials that are obscene or X-rated. No messages with derogatory or inflammatory remarks about an individual's race, age, disability, religion, national origin, physical attributes or sexual preference shall be transmitted. Harassment of any kind is prohibited.
2. Disparaging, abusive, profane, or offensive language; materials that would adversely or negatively reflect upon Dino Drop-In or be contrary to Dino Drop-In's best interests; and any illegal activities -- including piracy, cracking, extortion, blackmail, copyright infringement, and unauthorized access to any computers on the Internet or e-mail -- are forbidden.
3. Copyrighted materials belonging to entities other than Dino Drop-In may not be transmitted by employees on the company's network. All employees obtaining access to other companies' or individual's materials must respect all copyrights and may not copy, retrieve, modify or forward copyrighted materials, except with permission or as a single copy to reference only. If you find something on the Internet that may be interesting to others, do not copy it to a network drive. Instead, give the URL (uniform resource locator or "address") to the person who may be interested in the information and have that person look at it on his/her own.
4. Do not use the system in a way that disrupts its use by others. This includes excessive dial-in usage, sending or receiving many large files and "spamming" (sending e-mail messages to thousands of users.).

5. The Internet is full of useful programs that can be downloaded, but some of them may contain computer viruses that can extensively damage our computers. Be sure to virus-check downloaded files immediately. Instructions on how to check for viruses are available through the IT Department. Also, many browser add-on packages (called "plug-ins") are available to download. There is no guarantee that such will be compatible with other programs on the network and such may cause problems; therefore, please refrain from downloading such plug-ins.
6. Passwords to company systems are provided in order to protect sensitive information and messages from unauthorized use or viewing. Such passwords are not intended to prevent appropriate review by company management. Under NO circumstances should you provide any co-worker or non-company personnel your password and user codes.
7. At no times should networked workstations with internet access be left in an accessible state that could potentially allow unauthorized access.
8. Each employee is responsible for the content of all text, audio or images that he/she places or sends over the company's Internet and e-mail system. No e-mail or other electronic communications may be sent which hides the identity of the sender or represents the sender as someone else.
9. E-mail is not guaranteed to be private or confidential. All electronic communications are Dino Drop-In property. Therefore, Dino Drop-In reserves the right to examine, monitor and regulate e-mail messages, directories and files, as well as Internet usage. Also, the Internet is not secure so don't assume that others cannot read -- or possibly alter -- your messages.
10. Internal and external e-mail messages are considered business records and may be subject to discovery in the event of litigation. Be aware of this possibility when sending e-mail within and outside the Company.
11. Use of Instant Messaging, either with internal employees or persons outside the office must fall within company guidelines.

Dino Drop-In's Right to Monitor and Consequences

All company-supplied technology, including computer systems and company-related work records, belong to Dino Drop-In and not the employee. Dino Drop-In routinely monitors usage patterns for its e-mail and Internet communications. Although encouraged to explore the vast resources available on the Internet, employees should use discretion in the sites that are accessed.

Since all the computer systems and software, as well as the e-mail and Internet connection, are owned by Dino Drop-In, all company policies are in effect at all times. Any employee who abuses the privilege of Dino Drop-In's facilitated access to e-mail or the Internet, may be denied access to the Internet and, if appropriate, be subject to disciplinary action up to and including termination.

Managers are responsible for ensuring that assigned personnel understand Internet acceptable use policy.

Company management reserves the right to periodically monitor employees' use of any computer systems or network.

Social Media

At Dino Drop-In, we understand that social media can be a fun and rewarding way to share your life and opinions with family, friends and co-workers around the world. However, use of social media also presents certain risks and carries with it certain responsibilities. To assist you in making responsible decisions about your use of social media, we have established these guidelines for appropriate use of social media.

This policy applies to all employees who work for Dino Drop-In.

Guidelines

In the rapidly expanding world of electronic communication, social media can mean many things. Social Media includes all means of communicating or posting information or content of any sort on the Internet, including to your own or someone else's web log or blog, journal or diary, personal web site, social networking or affinity web site, web bulletin board or a chat room, whether or not associated or affiliated with Dino Drop-In, as well as any other form of electronic communication.

The same principles and guidelines found in Dino Drop-In policies apply to your activities online. Ultimately, you are solely responsible for what you post online. Before creating online content, consider some of the risks and rewards that are involved. Keep in mind that any of your conduct that adversely affects your job performance, the performance of fellow associates or otherwise adversely affects members, customers, suppliers, people who work on behalf of Dino Drop-In or the legitimate business interests of Dino Drop-In may result in disciplinary action up to and including termination.

Know and Follow the Rules

Carefully read these guidelines, Dino Drop-In Statement of Ethics Policy, Dino Drop-In Customer and Confidentiality Policies and the Discrimination & Harassment Prevention Policy, and ensure your postings are consistent with these policies. Inappropriate postings that may include discriminatory remarks, harassment, and threats of violence or similar inappropriate or unlawful conduct will not be tolerated and may subject you to disciplinary action up to and including termination.

Be Respectful

Always be fair and courteous to fellow employees, customers, members, suppliers or people who work on behalf of Dino Drop-In. Also, keep in mind that you are more likely to resolve work-related complaints by speaking directly with your co-workers or by utilizing our Open Door Policy than by posting complaints to a social media outlet.

Nevertheless, if you decide to post complaints or criticisms, avoid using statements, photographs, video or audio that reasonably could be viewed as malicious, obscene, threatening or intimidating, that disparage customers, members, associates or suppliers, or that might constitute harassment or bullying.

Examples of such conduct might include offensive posts meant to intentionally harm someone's reputation or posts that could contribute to a hostile work environment on the basis of race, sex, disability, religion or any other status protected by law or Dino Drop-In policy.

Be Honest and Accurate

Make sure you are always honest and accurate when posting information or news, and if you make a mistake, correct it quickly. Be open about any previous posts you have altered. Remember that the Internet archives almost everything; therefore, even deleted postings can be searched. Never post any information or rumors that you know to be false about Dino Drop-In, fellow employees, members, customers, suppliers, or people working on behalf of Dino Drop-In or competitors.

Post Only Appropriate and Respectful Content

Trades secrets may include information regarding the development of systems, processes, products, know-how and technology. Do not post internal reports, policies, procedures or other internal business-related confidential communications.
- Respect financial disclosure laws. It is illegal to communicate or give a "tip" on inside information to others so that they may buy or sell stocks or securities. Such online conduct may also violate the Insider Trading Policy.
- Do not create a link from your blog, website or other social networking site to Dino Drop-In website without identifying yourself as a Company associate.
- Express only your personal opinions. Never represent yourself as a spokesperson for Dino Drop-In. If Dino Drop-In is a subject of the content you are creating, be clear and open about the fact that you are an associate and make it clear that your views do not represent those of Dino Drop-In, fellow associates, members, customers, suppliers or people working on behalf of Dino Drop-In. If you do publish a blog or post online related to the work you do or subjects associated with Dino Drop-In, make it clear that you are not speaking on behalf of Dino Drop-In. It is best to include a disclaimer such as "The postings on this site are my own and do not necessarily reflect the views of Dino Drop-In."

not use Dino Drop-In email addresses to register on social networks, blogs or other online tools utilized for personal use.

Retaliation is Prohibited

Dino Drop-In prohibits taking negative action against any associate for reporting a possible deviation from this policy or for cooperating in an investigation. Any associate who retaliates against another associate for reporting a possible deviation from this policy or for cooperating in an investigation will be subject to disciplinary action, up to and including termination.

Paid Time Off (PTO)

Time away from work is important to the health and well-being of all employees for rest, relaxation, family-time, and overall rejuvenation. Therefore, full-time employees are eligible for paid time off (PTO) benefits.

Paid Time Off (PTO) is an all-purpose time off policy for eligible employees to use for vacation, illness, injury, or personal business. PTO combines traditional vacation and sick/personal leave plans into one flexible, inclusive policy, that is neither earned nor accrued by the employee. PTO is payable in the same manner as regular pay and is subject to the same withholding elections.

PTO begins after 1 full year (or 6-month waiting period) of continuous employment and follows the schedule outlined in this policy. After completion of the 1st year, employees are eligible for 40 hours/ 5 days of PTO, but not before. PTO can be used only after the date of hire anniversary each calendar year. Employees are encouraged to use this PTO time during each calendar year. A maximum amount of 40 hours is allowable each calendar/ fiscal year, all other PTO hours will be taken and paid each year.

Tenure	PTO Allowed	Amount allowed/ hour worked	Maximum hours
6 months – 1 year	40 hours/ 5 days	0.0192/ hour worked	Up to 40 hours
1+ years – 3 years	80 hours/ 10 days	0.0385/ hour worked	Up to 80 hours
3+ years – 5 years	120 hours/ 15 days	0.0577/ hour worked	Up to 120 hours

Any break in employment greater than 6 months and the employee will start over with PTO benefits. PTO may be used in minimum increments of a one hour and may not be used to supplement pay in excess of 40 hours per week. Employees with an unexpected need (i.e. sudden illness or emergency) to request PTO should notify their direct supervisor as early as possible.

To schedule PTO, employees will submit a completed absence request form to their supervisor at least three (3) weeks before the requested leave. Requests will be approved based on a number of factors, including operating and staffing requirements. The supervisor will notify the employee upon its approval, normally within five (5) business days of the date it is submitted. If the request for PTO is denied, the supervisor will likely provide an appropriate reason on the form returned to the employee.

PTO will be paid at the employee's regular wage at the time the leave is taken. PTO is not included in overtime calculation and does not include any special forms of compensation such as incentives, commissions, or bonuses. Leave taken beyond an employee's available PTO balance may be unpaid unless otherwise required under state or federal law.

If employed in either our Montana or Washington locations, and employment is separated, voluntarily or involuntarily, unused PTO is forfeited by the employee and not paid.

If employed in North Dakota, PTO will be forfeited if these 3 conditions are met:

- 1) At time of hiring, in the employee's offer letter presented by Dino Drop-In, the employee was notified of this policy as written notice of the limitation of payment of the PTO benefit.

- 2) The employee has been employed by Dino Drop-In for less than one year.
- 3) The employee gave the employer less than 5 day's written or verbal notice.

If any of these conditions do not apply to the employee's situation, then the PTO balance will be paid to the employee upon separation.

For reference, please see the North Dakota employment poster here.

Deductions from Pay – Exempt Employees

Dino Drop-in follows proper deductions from the salaries of exempt employees and complies with the salary basis requirements of the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA). Employees classified as exempt from the overtime pay requirements of the FLSA will be notified of this classification at the time of hire or change in position or compensation.

Permitted deductions. The FLSA limits the types of deductions that may be made from the pay of an exempt employee. Deductions that are allowed include:

- Absence from work for one or more full days for personal reasons.
- Deductions for taxes, or employee benefits when authorized by the employee.
- Offset for amounts received as witness or jury fees, or for military pay; or
- Unpaid disciplinary suspensions of one or more full days imposed in good faith for workplace conduct rule infractions.

During the week when an exempt employee begins employment for the company or during the last week of employment, the employee will only be paid for actual hours worked. In addition, an employee may be paid only for hours worked during a period when the employee is using unpaid leave.

Improper deductions. If an employee classified as exempt believes that an improper deduction has been taken from their pay, the employee should immediately report the deduction to the Owner. If it is found that an improper deduction has been made, the company will reimburse the employee for the improper deduction.

Unpaid Time Off

All regular employees employed for a minimum of 90 days are eligible for unpaid personal leave of absence. The employee must return to work on the scheduled return date or be considered to have voluntarily resigned from his or her employment. Extensions of leave will be considered on a case-by-case basis.

Leaves of Absence

Leaves of Absence may be granted for reasons of bona fide illness or for other reasons mutually agreed upon with your employer after 90 days of employment. Leaves must be requested in writing and shall state the reason for the leave and the dates desired and are unpaid. Benefit contributions and benefit accruals may be suspended during leaves. Upon expiration of the leave, or upon notification to your employer of your intent to return, you will be returned to the next available job opening in your classification. If you do not report upon the expiration of the leave, or any extension authorized by your employer, you may be considered as having voluntarily given your resignation.

State law shall govern a maternity leave of absence.

Inactive Status

Employees, who are on any type of leave of absence, work-related or non-work-related, will be placed on inactive status. During the time the employee is on inactive status, benefits such as PTO, vacation, or sick leave will not be earned.

Lactation/Breastfeeding

Dino Drop-In is committed to offering a supportive environment to enable breastfeeding employees to express their milk during work hours. This policy is applicable to mothers of children up to 2 years old.

Supervisors are responsible for alerting pregnant and breastfeeding employees about the company's worksite lactation support program. It is expected that all employees will assist in providing a positive atmosphere of support for breastfeeding employees. Employees who wish to express breast milk during the work period shall keep supervisors informed of their needs so that appropriate and reasonable accommodations can be made to satisfy the needs of both the employee and the company.

Military Leave

An employee who is a member of the United States Armed Forces, National Guard, Reserves or Public Health Service may be granted a leave of absence for military service, training or related obligations in accordance with applicable law. At the conclusion of the leave, upon the satisfaction of certain conditions, an employee generally has the right to return to the same position he or she held prior to the leave or to a position with like seniority, status and pay that the employee is qualified to perform.

During military leave of less than 31 days, an employee is entitled to continued group health plan coverage under the same conditions as if the employee continued to work. For military leaves of more than 30 days, an employee may elect to continue his or her health plan coverage for up to 18 months of uniformed service but may be required to pay all or part of the premium for the continued coverage.

Upon receipt of orders for active or reserve duty, an employee should notify his or her supervisor, as well as Human Resources, as soon as possible and submit a copy of the military orders to his or her supervisor.

Upon return from military service, an employee must provide notice of or submit an application for reemployment to Dino Drop-In.

Some states may provide greater protection for employees serving in the military than the Federal law, USERRA.
